In the first frame Rossland held the score even, 1-1. In the second Coleman had a 2 to 1 edge. The third was a continual procession toward Rossland end, with the latter breaking away only in flashes.

There is too much mid-ice play among the amateurs. The game is slowed up because the puck cannot be kicked and the offside rule is a bewildering thing to those unaccustomed to its manifold possibilities.

A Romance of the Spanish Main CAPTAIN BLOOD by RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyright, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is sent to the Barbadoes as a slave under orders of King James. He is bought by Colonel Bishop, the military commander, and falls in love with Arabella, the niece of the colonel. Spanish raiders bombard the city and sack it. Blood saves Arabella and Mary Trull. He captures the ship and sails for Tortuga, the rendezvous of buccanniers of the Spanish Main. There Captain Blood, tormented by his fear that he will never see Arabella again and importuned by his comrades, takes command of a pirate fleet. Levasseur, a Frenchman, comes on board him. Levasseur captures a Dutch vessel and lands with Madelon d'Ogeron and holds her prisoner. Upon this scene enters Captain Blood whose ship had lost sight of Levasseur's vessel in the storm.

"Not so," Levasseur contained himself with difficulty before that irony. "They were in the Dutch brig."

"I don't remember that you mentioned them before."

"I did not. They are prisoners of my own—a personal matter. They are French."

"French?" Captain Blood's light eyes stabbed at Levasseur, then at the prisoners. He frowned thoughtfully upon Levasseur.

"Yesterday you surprised me by making war upon the friendly Dutch. But now it seems that even your own countrymen are safe from you."

"Have I not said this is a matter personal to me?"

"Ah! And their names?"

The prisoner answered for him. "An Henri d'Ogeron, and this is my sister."

"d'Ogeron?" Captain Blood stared. "Are you related by chance to my good friend the Governor of Tortuga?"

"He is my father."

"The salute preserve us now! Are you quite mad, Levasseur?"

Captain Blood sat down on the cask that Levasseur had lately occupied, and looked up blandly. "I may inform you, to save time, that I heard the entire proposal that you make to this lady and this gentleman, and I'll also remind you that we sail under articles that admit no ambiguities. You have fixed their ransom at twenty thousand pieces of eight. That sum then belongs to your crews and mine in the proportions by the articles established. But what is far more grave is that you have concealed from me this part of the prizes taken on your last cruise, and for such an offense as that the penalties are certain penalties that are something severe in character."

"Ho, ho!" laughed Levasseur unpleasantly. Then added: "If you dis-

Spendthrift Dominions

There is probably no other country which so lightly regards the rights of the future as our own Australia. To lose something out of the continent and pass it over to others for its present cash value has become the ruling principle. After nearly a century and a half of white settlement, the year 1925 finds us still largely hewers of wood and drawers of water for other people.—Sydney Bulletin.

and shared amongst them all. Whilst still they hesitated, Blood added something to quicken their decision.

"If you will come to our anchorage, you shall receive at once your share of the booty of the Santiago, that you may dispose of it as you please."

They crossed the island, the two prisoners accompanying them, and, under that day, the division made, they would have parted company but that Caluso, at the instances of the men who had elected him Levasseur's successor, offered Captain Blood anew the services of that French contingent.

"If you will sail with me again," the Captain answered him, "you may do so on the condition that you make your peace with the Dutch, and restore the brig and her cargo."

The condition was accepted, and Captain Blood went off to find his guests, the children of the Governor of Tortuga.

Mademoiselle d'Ogeron and her brother—the latter now relieved of his bonds—sat in the great cabin of the Arabella, whether they had been conducted. He doffed his feathered hat, and came forward to the table.

"Mademoiselle," said he in his vile but fluent French, "I beg you to dismiss your fears. Abandon this ship you shall be treated with all honor. So soon as we are in case to put to sea again, we steer a course for Tortuga to take you home to your father. And pray do not consider that I have bought you. Count it, if you please, as a friendly loan to be repaid entirely at your convenience."

Mademoiselle stared at him in unbelief.

"Oh, you are noble!"

Captain Blood sighed. For the whole truth, which he withheld from Mademoiselle d'Ogeron, was that in venturing his life to save her, he had been driven by the thought that the deed must be pleasing in the eyes of Miss Bishop could she but witness it.

"That affair of Mademoiselle d'Ogeron bore as its natural fruit an improvement in the already cordial relations between Captain Blood and the Governor of Tortuga. It was not difficult then for Captain Blood to recruit able crews, and he might have increased the number of his ships as well, but he decided to hold to the three vessels which were his—the Arabella, the La Foudre, and the Santiago, which he had rechristened the Elizabeths.

It was with this fleet that he carried out the enterprise against Maracaybo, an enterprise in which Peter Blood's daring was only surpassed by stupidity which almost turned the tide against him and delivered him and his men over to the tender mercies of his implacable enemy, Don Miguel de Espinosa y Valdez, the Admiral of Spain.

Captain Blood had landed at Maracaybo and had found the town empty. Too soon he learned of the trap. Espinosa had put into the narrow neck of the bay with his ships and had bottled the buccannier in the bay.

A sloop, captured by Captain Blood, was loaded with combustibles and powder and was sailed directly at the Spaniards until the grapples held the two like a vice. Then it was not a flame. The Admiral's flagship burst into blaze, and fine seamanship and

"You do not take her while I live, he cried."

"That is the ransom of the man. It is to be paid for him by the Government of Tortuga."

"No, no. You've set their value at twenty thousand pieces, and for that sum you may have them, since you desire it, but you'll pay for them the twenty thousand pieces that are ultimately to come to you as the ransom of one and the dowry of the other; and that sum shall be divided among our crews."

That Captain Blood should dare oppose him with but a dozen followers whilst he had a hundred at his beck and call never entered the ruffian's mind. But he did not reckon on the cupidity of his own men.

Within their reach, Levasseur demanded time until he had captured sufficient booty. But Blood would have none of that. Death lurked always in this desperate business, and he added:

"Then let some one buy the prisoners who has."

"And who do you suppose has it if I have not?"

"I have," said Captain Blood.

"You have!" Levasseur's mouth fell open. "You . . . you want the girl?"

Captain Blood drew forth a small bag, twenty pearls poured into his hand, and Caluso appraised them as worth the ransom. Levasseur let his anger sprang at Caluso, and a blast scattered the pearls in the sand. The men dived for them.

Levasseur, his hand on his sword, his face a white mask of rage, confronted Captain Blood.

"You do not take her while I live," he cried.

"Then I'll take her when you're dead," said Captain Blood, and his own blade flashed in the sunlight.

It was soon over. When, with both hands transfixed, he lay prone on the white sand, coughing out his raspy life, Captain Blood looked calmly at Caluso across the body.

"I think that cancels the articles between us," he said.

With soulless, cynical eyes Caluso and his mates considered the twitching body of their recent leader. Captain Blood had brought them to Levasseur's quity of the one offense they deemed unpardonable, the crime of appropriating to himself something which might be converted into gold to take refuge in the town. The Spaniards secured themselves in the fort.

With a devil's luck and clear headed thinking, Captain Blood, faintly with preparation for a last attack after he had managed to acquire a large ransom in gold from the Governor of Maracaybo, and, opening a broadside, put the fort in flames. Captain Blood sailed for Tortuga. Don Miguel came off to chew the bitter end of too opportunity.

Nation Wins Out By Native Energy and Enterprise

You must not look to Europe alone to bring relief to our finances. Self-reliance was the secret of our success in the past. It will be the secret of our commercial and industrial renaissance.

We must not fix our eyes on the harassed nations who owe us money, but upon the new markets which can be won by our native energy and enterprise. The waiting is not a British trait. Let us resolve to rise although Europe falls. Let us as of old, save ourselves by our own exertions and Europe by our example.

We have led the world by paying our debts without counting the cost. Let us lead it also by our determination to succeed even if everybody else succumbs.—London Daily Express.

At present Canada's industrial future has hardly begun. Looking at the spirit of her people and the past history of the United States, Canada can be no hesitation in recognizing it as one of the greatest world powers of the future, an achievement in colonization of which the British people can be immeasurably proud.—Singapore Free Press.

Fitting Cruiser For South African Trip

Getting Requisite Ready For Prince Is Proving Difficult Problem

The fitting of the battle cruiser Repulse for the Prince of Wales' trip to South Africa and South America is proving a difficult problem, the London Daily Mail says.

In addition to the usual complement of 1,250 men, room has to be found for the Prince's staff and servants, numbering more than 90 and the fact that so many ocean climates and conditions must be provided for, necessitates space for an immense amount of baggage, totalling about 200 trunks, 200 chests and other cases.

One difficulty, the paper says, is that the Repulse is not equipped with a laundry and that therefore a great stock of laundered things must be taken, as none can be freshened until Cape Town is reached.

Some of the preparations have to do with the entertainments at which the Prince will be host aboard ship, upon his arrival at various ports. Twenty-one cooks, stewards and waiters will accompany the party and sufficient table ware will be taken to serve 900 guests.

In American bookelling circles it is customary to allow a discount to publishers, authors and personal friends. When Mark Twain once visited a bookshop he chose a book and said to the assistant:

"Now, as a publisher, I am entitled to a discount of 50 per cent. As an author I am also entitled to 50 per cent. and as a friend of the proprietor I should get 25 per cent. Now what's the price of the book and what do I have to pay for it?"

Many citizens of San Marino, one of the smallest republics in the world, are unable to read or write. "The vote is by ballot," he said, "and on the day of election there are present a number of little girls dressed in white. If a voter cannot read or write he selects a little girl who can, and she prepares his ballot for him." A little girl, therefore, is the purest thing on earth, and she is sure to practice no deceit on the man who trusts her."

Big Ben, London's most famous clock, on the House of Parliament, has made what is called a world record in the radio, its chimes having been heard in British North Borneo, 8,523 miles away.

Big Ben stopped ticking recently because its machinery had become clogged with soot and rust, and workmen labored for several days taking out thirty pounds of refuse. It was after this that the chimes were broadcast from station 2LO, and word came back from an Englishman in Borneo that he had heard the old clock strike.

Over Sixty Ways To Serve Cheese

Beautiful Recipe Book May Be Obtained Free of Cost

That Canada will soon take its place with the nations that are the largest consumers of cheese seems assured considering the steady increase in its consumption in the past few years since the Kraft-MacLaren Cheese Company, of Montreal, introduced the five-pound box. The Kraft-MacLaren were the originators of the popular tinfoil-wrapped cheese, without rind or waste, in the five-pound wooden box, and while the original product has had many imitators, none have been able to produce a cheese of the same uniform quality and flavor because the Kraft process is protected by patents. The company does not make cheese, therefore, it is not competing with the cheese factories. But it purchases Canadian cheese in enormous quantities, thus keeping the cheese factories busy and adding to their prosperity and that of the farmers. Kraft Cheese is simply a scientific blending of these manufactured cheeses by means of the patented Kraft process which absolutely controls the flavor.

The company has just issued a beautiful recipe book showing over 60 different ways in which cheese may be served. Many of the dishes are illustrated in natural colors. A copy may be obtained, free, on writing to the company, in Montreal, mentioning this paper.

Flame Burns Under Water

Produces Steam Power Capable of Driving Locomotive or Steamship.

By a process evolved by Mr. Oscar Brunler, a young English engineer, a submerged flame, burning in direct contact with water, can produce instantly steam power capable of driving a locomotive or a steamship. The method is applicable also to chemical solutions, for purposes of concentration. With a generator measuring three feet by four feet six inches, Mr. Brunler claims he could generate power sufficient to drive a locomotive from London to Glasgow and back. Its application to shipping would enable a liner to leave harbor immediately. It is claimed. The flame is produced by a mechanical device which is ignited after contact with the water, where it burns fiercely, attaining a heat of four thousand degrees Fahrenheit. In addition to its mechanical applications, the principle can be applied to the industry of agriculture in the production of nitric acid and calcium nitrate, by regulating the amount of air burned in the flame.

Says War Hovers Over Europe

War hovers over Europe, according to Hansy MacDonald. If the security pact to guard the French frontier is entered into, the former premier believes the horror of 1914-18 will be enacted again on the continent before 1936.

The alternative to this prospect, he declares, is peace and security by means of the League of Nations-protocol.

The Conservative party has decided to jettison the protocol and Foreign Minister Austen Chamberlain is expected to begin serious negotiations with Premier Herriot for the security of the pact which would pledge Britain, among others, to protect France from German invasion.

"This security pact would mean only one thing—war," MacDonald, leader of the Labor party, said in an interview.

"It would inevitably lead our grandchildren into being smashed up in another great war. The policy is wrong in principle and wrong in detail, and we agreed to it, we would go back to the errors of 1905-1914."

"We may as well cease altogether talking nonsense about disarmament if this pact is to come. Instead, let us build airships, manufacture poison gas and get ready all the paraphernalia of destruction."

France is the world's greatest air power, according to Sir Samuel Hoare, British air minister. The British air force in Great Britain, Ireland and with the fleet in home waters, consists of 30 squadrons of twelve planes each. In addition, Britain maintains approximately 15 squadrons distributed between Mesopotamia, Egypt, Palestine and India. Thus the British air force numbers approximately 576 planes, against the French 1,200.

Austrian Engineer Applies Flettner Principle to Air Travel

Successful adaptation of the rotor to the airplane is claimed to have been accomplished by an Austrian engineer, Herr Gligoritz. "My invention," he says, "is a combined propeller and rotor-driven plane, and is an application to air travel of the Flettner principle."

Herr Gligoritz says he believes he can make the flight to New York from Europe in less than twelve hours. He claims that his model when tested at Vienna showed that it could travel at more than three hundred miles an hour with only a 120 h.p. motor, and reach a height of three thousand feet within two minutes.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MARCH 22

THE FORTY DAYS AND THE ASCENSION

Golden Text: Ye are witnesses of these things. Luke 24:48.

Lesson: Luke 24:13-33.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 24.

The Text Explained and Illuminated by the apostles in Easter Evening to the Eleven, verses 36-43. Luke follows his account of the resurrection of Christ (the empty tomb seen by the three women and by Peter) with an account of Christ's appearance to the eleven apostles. He was talking to them as they sat at a table, and he made Himself known at Emmaus in the breaking of bread: were talking to the apostles in Jerusalem of their wonderful talk with the risen Lord. He Himself suddenly appeared in their midst and said, "Peace be unto you," the customary form of greeting. Notwithstanding what they had just heard, they were greatly terrified, for they supposed that they beheld a spirit, that is, "a form recognizable as that of Jesus, but of Jesus not risen but come from the world of the dead disembodied or only with an apparent body."

"Why are ye troubled? and wherefore do ye question? arise in your hearts." Jesus asked; and then to reassure them, to convince them that he was a living Man and not a disembodied spirit, he bade them see and touch His hands and his feet: "A spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye behold Me having," he told them.

"The resurrection body could evidently offer resistance to touch; but in nature escapes our conception" (Dr. A. E. Garvie).

The Oil of the People.—Many oils have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Its sterling qualities have brought it to the front and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. Thousands have benefited by it and would use no other preparation.

Poland is paying her national debt and is the only European country which has so far followed in Great Britain's steps. Ratification of the agreement for the funding of her debt to the United States has been unanimously voted by the Polish parliament.

The agreement provides that Poland shall pay this year a sum of more than a million dollars and that the payment of the debt would be spread over a period of years until 1944.

East Africans Are Loyal

Native Chiefs Proud of Forming Part of British Empire

The Duke and Duchess of York have left Nairobi for Nyanza, East Africa. On the day previous to his departure, His royal highness held a private reception at Government House for a number of native chiefs and headmen. This was a picturesque scene, as the chiefs wore their full decorations of paint, skins and feathers, and assured the Duke of their loyalty to the King, and their pride at forming part of his empire. The Duke promised to convey the message to his father, and presented each chief with an ebony staff, surmounted by his badge, the Rose of York, in silver.

SUGGEST $100 PROVINCIAL FEE FOR PEDDLERS

Hawkers, peddlers and transient traders will find it much more costly to do business in the future if the resolution passed by the Retail Merchants' Association of Alberta, Thursday, meets with the approval of the Alberta legislature. The resolution dealing with this subject and one asking that the egg grading law be amended to permit dealers to purchase eggs without grading them and requiring that the grading take place before the eggs are sold, were the two important resolutions of Thursday and perhaps of the whole convention. Frank Freeze, of the Canadian Credit Men's Association, in a speech at the evening banquet in the Board of Trade rooms, advised a sane optimism and Geo. Hougham, secretary of the association, advised closer co-operation between competing firms, declaring also that the purpose of the association was to preserve the independence and integrity of the independently owned and operated stores. The resolution dealing with hawkers, peddlers and transient traders passed unanimously at the afternoon meeting, suggests an increase of the provincial license fee from $25 to $100, also a municipal license, and that any hawker, peddler or transient trader be required to register and be compelled to give a bond in the sum of $200 to the municipal council to secure the due delivery within a reasonable time of goods sold by him. The time for the next convention was fixed for January, 1926, the place to be decided by the executive, with a recommendation that it be held in Edmonton, and that fares be pooled. Officers elected are: President, F. E. Alger, Peace River; first vice-president, J. W. Bowden, Lethbridge; second vice-president, D. A. Thompson, Coronation; third vice-president, Geo. Matthews, Gleichen; treasurer, S. O. Jones, Fort Saskatchewan. W. A. Fraser was appointed representative for Alberta to the Dominion executive council and the Dominion board, with Louis Dutil, Blaimore, and Louis Simington, as substitutes. It was suggested that merchants in each town get together and agree upon a sale week or at least decide to hold the summer and winter sales at the same time, advertising together and deciding that staple articles be not included, or that the cut on these articles be small. It was decided to authorize the executive to put on in connection with the next convention a short course in retail merchandising. The convention closed with a banquet at the Board of Trade rooms. Harry Hutchcroft led the gathering in community singing, which seemed to be very much enjoyed. Frank Freeze, manager of the Credit Men's Association, reviewed the history of the conditions prevailing after great wars and showed that they were similar to those existing for the past few years. It might be well to take stock and reduce as far as possible all overhead expenses in order to weather the hard times, he said. Secretary Hougham spoke on the necessity of preserving the integrity of the efficient retail merchant. He spoke strongly on the benefit of organization, saying he had adopted the motto, "Organization is the badge of sanity." The speaker said that it had been necessary for the past that 75 per cent of the legislation had been along experimental and economic lines. He said he was not afraid of constructive

CHRISTOPHERS ON CAUSE OF UNEMPLOYMENT

P. M. Christophers, Rocky Mountain (Labor), regretted that the speech from the throne had contained but a passing reference to unemployment. The Minister of Public Works, in giving figures of unemployment, had overlooked the coal camps of the Crows' Nest Pass, where about 2000 men had only one day's work a week, and some none since the strike. The cause of unemployment was that only the equivalent of a small proportion of his product was returned to the producer. It was said that lower wages would bring bigger markets, yet the British miners took a reduction in 1921, and three more reductions since, and today they were in a worse condition than at any time since 1870. There was less work since they accepted a reduction than before.

Mr. Christophers protested against the Government paying as low a wage as 35 cents an hour, pointing out that the Dominion cost of living figures shows that a family could not live on less than $20.00 a week in the urban communities. If the men working for the government were employed every day in the week except Sunday, all through the year, they would be still $200 short of the living wage as defined in the Dominion statistics. As it was, they were able to work only four or five months in the year.

Dealing with Mr. Henry's attack on Mr. Bartholomew, Mr. Christophers said he did not believe any member of the Assembly should attack a man who was unable to defend himself. He recalled Mr. Henry's patriotic periods, and his emphasis on building up Canadian industries, and then passed on to enumerate some of the goods sold in Mr. Henry's Edmonton store. Mr. Christophers said he had spent nearly a day in investigating, and found most of these goods that were marketed at all were labelled "Made in Germany," "Made in Japan," or made in some other foreign country.—U. F. A. Journal.

It happened in a local eatatorium. He was one of those fresh young fellows given to the use of slang. At the breakfast table desiring the milk, he exclaimed: "Chase the cow this way, please!" "Here, Mary," said the proprietor, "take the cow down to where the calf is bawling!"

He (with enthusiasm)—"Sure."

S. Y. T. (pointing toward house which they had just passed)—"Well, right in there."

THE MINERS ARE DOWN

The following article is copied from a recent issue of the Bassano Mail:

"They've got the mine workers down in the Crows' Nest Pass, and are proceeding to put the boots to them."

"Maled by professional agitators and starved by long months of striking last year, these men now face almost continuous mine shut-downs, and the gaunt spectre of starvation menaces many a home."

"Mine owners claim they cannot operate without further cuts in wages and seem determined to make the miners 'come to terms' with a vengeance."

"Driven almost to desperation, it is probable that the miners will consent to almost any wage in order to get back to work and earn money for food and clothing for their families."

"While the legislature quibbles about reducing the $2000 indemnities these miners may be literally forced to return to work at wages that will not maintain a family with the bare necessities of life."

"And coal mining is hard, dangerous and unhealthy work, especially as compared with the onerous (?) duties of the members of the legislative assembly."

A newspaper was considered the best source of information, and then the woman's club was instituted.

In Days Gone By

A Scottish minister of many years but few words, was on a flying visit to the Jamiesons, who had years ago been members of his congregation.

"Will you take a cup o' tea, Mr. McGlasson?" asked the kindly Mrs. Jamieson.

"No, thanks, no tea," he replied.

"A cup o' coffee, then?"

"No coffee."

"Will I mak ye cocoa?"

"No cocoa."

"Why, then, Mr. McGlasson, will ye hae a glass o' whiskey and soda?"

"No soda!"

MRS. HENDERSON DELIVERS INTERESTING LABOR ADDRESS

A large audience of mostly miners were privileged on Friday evening last to hear Mrs. Rose Henderson deliver on questions in support of the federated labor party.

Mrs. Henderson is a social worker, lecturer and writer of no mean ability. Her arguments are based upon actual knowledge of conditions and she makes the statement that she has never talked and will not talk on matters she is not sure about, and anyone listening to her must feel convinced of the sincerity of the speaker and the thorough grasp she displays of her subject.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Frank Wheatley, who in fitting terms introduced the speaker. She gave a short history of the reconstruction of the Federated Labor Party after the failure of the old. It now offered a definite policy and was not desiring of any imitations of being tools of the other parties. They stood for an absolute change in the social and political form of society. She explained her position in a few words. Her work in connection with the juvenile courts at Montreal had brought her face to face with the question of poverty and all forms of social ills and after years of dealing with the results she had determined to get at the cause. In reviewing world conditions, the speaker referred to the premises of better homes and better conditions if we would allow our sons to go to the war. These had not materialized. Now it was necessary for labor to organize and get what was being denied them. "Society does not stand still—the East was awakening to the ills of mankind and was looking for a better world."

To get a correct idea of world conditions, the lecturer said she had spent two and a half years in Europe with the Society of Friends, appealing for help for 300,000 Poles and other countries in a similar state. In her opinion the Dawes plan was but the last instrument to stabilize conditions in order to frustrate the collapse of the world imperialists. In Germany labor was receiving from five to eight dollars per week of 54 hours. In England we find that with 1,500,000 already in the bread line, 100,000 miners are turned out because the owners cannot compete with the German mines and pay two pounds ten shillings per week. With the sole system of 15 shillings per week, the physical standard is steadily going down. Women and children are under nourished and rickets and other diseases are breaking out. In Wales and the north of England 300,000 die under the age of five years, while three million leave school and are walking the streets with no hope of work. Fifty per cent of the children in Glasgow are affected with T.B. or rickets. In homes of South Wales, rags for beds and boxes for furniture represent the household effects left. This, she claimed, was on account of the enslavement of the German people. With all this poverty she claimed that the banks in England were declaring 22 per cent dividends and the dividends on margarine was 61 per cent. We had been told that class distinction had been wiped out, whereas the gulf between rich and poor was growing even greater.

In regard to conditions in Canada, the speaker read a report showing twelve large eastern cities with bread lines of from 300 to 30,000—in Toronto.

In the law of co-operation we have been taught that brain and talent should be of service to humanity and that the intelligent should not exploit their fellows. She was of opinion that co-operation among the workers would replace competition as the life of trade, and urged upon the workers to not only unite, but to co-operate.

Mrs. Henderson carried with her a supply of periodicals of her own writing, dealing at great length with various labor problems and possible solutions. These pamphlets found ready sale and hundreds of them found their way into local homes.

Towards the close of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the speaker.

Correspondence

The Editor, Blairmore Enterprise.

Dear Sir:

The Carnival Committee which put on a very successful carnival at the Bellevue Arena on Wednesday the 11th inst., wish to notify their many patrons and friends of a regrettable error which occurred in the Queen Competition and by which an honor was made in awarding the honors.

The committee of one in charge of the competition, finding himself very much over-worked, accepted the offer of a friend in counting the money of a competitor and this friend not being on the carnival committee was not aware of the time limit set for receiving money representing votes and accepted a sum, which was told to the committee who announced immediately the order of the results.

Next day, the committee being advised of a dissatisfaction, immediately investigated and found that a few boys not knowing the time limit set collected money to give their favorite a last minute boost, and running into the office where her money was being counted, threw it on the desk and ran out.

The committee felt very sorry that a mistake occurred and apologized to the girls for their feelings which were so unwittingly wounded and also to the people of Bellevue for a misleading situation.

The carnival committee take this opportunity of announcing that the proper order of the result of the queen competition is as follows: Queen of the Carnival, 1st Miss E. Serra, 176000 votes; 2nd Miss H. Cormier, 149000 votes; 3rd Miss N. Jordan, 145000 votes.

The committee also declare that no blame whatever can be attached to any candidate, the laxity of the committee being entirely responsible for the mistake.

MUNICIPALITIES

HAVE DONE WELL

Sixty-eight municipalities in Alberta during 1924 were able to finance their operations during the whole of that year without a cent of borrowed money, according to the annual report of the provincial department of municipal affairs which was presented to the Legislature last week.

Out of the total of 169 municipal districts in the province, only eight have outstanding debenture indebtedness, which totals $61,000,000. Of the 101 districts which had to borrow money for current year's operations, all but 29 repaid the borrowings for the year. The districts have met all the debenture payments falling due in 1924.

The debenture issues of municipalities during the year totalled as follows: Cities $3,756,196.98, towns $15,000, villages $9,500, grand total $3,780,696.98, of which $3,699,843.58 was for refunding issues, leaving $80,853.40 as new issues.

Wild land tax was levied in 1924 on 4,394,180 acres, the levy totalling $537,026.83.

The revenue of the department was slightly increased from 1923, totalling $2,332,534.55, which, however, was short of the estimated revenue by $505,219.96, chiefly made up by the disallowance of the mineral rights tax.

Dr. F. E. Sandercock, president of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association and vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association; E. D. Battum, of Calgary, secretary of the A.A.H.A., and Lance L. Morgan, of Blairmore, vice-president of the A.A.H.A. will attend the annual meeting of the Dominion organization to be held in Winnipeg on March 23rd, Monday next. They will also witness the Allan cup finals.

PREMIER KING SAYS PROTOCOL IS UNACCEPTABLE

Ottawa.—We do not consider it in the interest of Canada, of the British Empire or of the League itself, to recommend to parliament adherence to the protocol, and particularly to its rigid provision for application of economic and military sanctions, in practically every future war. Among the grounds for this conclusion is the consideration of the effect of the non-participation of the United States upon attempts to enforce the sanctions, and particularly in the case of contiguous countries like Canada.

Premier Mackenzie King, in the House of Commons, summarized in the above paragraph, the attitude of the Dominion Government in regard to the Geneva protocol for the pacific settlement of international disputes. The paragraph was quoted from a despatch sent by the premier to Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the League of Nations, a few days ago.

Toronto.—Outlining the tenets of Liberalism here, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, emphasized the need for national unity, so that the various parts of Canada could be assimilated into a harmonious whole. He said he had unbounded faith in what the Liberal party would achieve.

It is said the equipment is still in the experimental stage.

Davidson, independent member for Calgary, urging senate reform, and also supporting the suggestion made in the speech from the throne in the Parliament of Canada, providing that this body be empowered to amend the British America Act. There was no active opposition to the resolution. All speakers agreed that some form of senate reform was necessary. Some even went so far as to advocate abolition of the senate entirely, while others suggested a limitation of powers.

Plan Is Not Favored

Scheme to Settle Retired Professional People in Dominion Is Frowned

On London.—It is doubtful whether the scheme to settle retired professional people possessing fixed but comparatively small incomes, in the different dominions on the community principle proposed by Sir Roland Bourne and others, will be seriously considered. The idea is that retired civil servants and general professional folk who now take themselves to a modest English or continental resort, would relinquish the opportunity of dwelling more or less closely together in the dominions.

It is suggested that 50 to 100 of these families could establish communities, with a clubhouse for meals. Many critics suggest that it would be pretty "cool" to expect the overseas settlement committee to provide financial assistance for helping those who have made their life's income from the British Government, to spend their retiring allowances outside the country.

Says Danzig Well Armed

Paris Correspondents Report City Arsenal of Rifles and Machine Guns

Paris.—"Danzig is like a powder magazine," says the correspondent of Le Journal, who, with the representative of Le Matin, went to that free city to investigate the difficulties between it and Poland. "The day Europe blows up it will be because Danzig exploded," the correspondent continues. "Two Prussian artillerymen await one at Koeningberg and the other at Berlin, pass in hand, ready to act when the time comes."

Le Matin's representative says Danzig, with its German population of a third of a million, can arm 60,000 men at the first call. He adds that the city is a regular arsenal of rifles and machine guns.

NAVAL PROGRAM FOR CANADA TO DEFEND COASTS

Ottawa.—A resolution proposing that "Canada should consider the question of defence of our sea coasts against our ocean-borne lines of commerce," was introduced in the House of Commons by A. W. Neill, independent, Comox-Alberni.

Mr. Neill introduced the subject by suggesting that the question be taken up in a non-partisan spirit. He suggested that a small committee of the house might be formed to consider the matter, with the aid of technical experts. A policy might be evolved of defence under the name of the "Canadian policy."

Mr. Neill urged the necessity for defence of coast lines and shipping. The dry dock at Esquimaux, which was to be finished shortly, would be of vital importance to any British naval operations in the Pacific. Today, it was particularly open to the world, with only a few obsolete guns to protect it. Mr. Neill quoted General McRae as stating that the next war would be in the Pacific.

The value of public works in Vancouver and Victoria was estimated at $200,000,000, and a coast line of 10,000 miles was absolutely defensible. Most important of all was the defence of shipping. The greatest damage could be done there, and the object of any enemy would be a blockade and destruction of shipping.

Captain Atkins, accompanied by his wife, arrived later on the scene, and the rhinoceros charged upon them. The captain advised a warning to his wife and tried to blind the animal by throwing his coat over its head, but was knocked down and trampled to death. Mrs. Atkins made her escape and brought back gunmen to the scene, who shot and killed the animal.

Hon. Mr. Reid announced the intention of the government to re-submit, in a different form, the Miller Alright tax, which was disallowed by the Dominion Government last year, but no item is included in the estimated revenue for this tax.

"We are confident," said Mr. Reid, "that the natural resources can be more economically administered by the province than by the Dominion authorities. It will be our duty to see that these resources are conserved and developed in the interests of the people."

Features of the budget speech are: Estimated increase in revenue for 1925, $778,567.46. Estimated increase in expenditure and controllable expenditures between 1924 and 1925, $1,171,564.14. No new tax methods forecasted.

Manitoba Drug Addicts

Estimates ranging from 400 to 500 including Chinese, the return states, are mere conjectures, and comprise a large percentage of persons known in police circles as "hookers." The report suggests control is not a question of public health. It declares efforts toward suppression of the traffic in narcotic drugs are more likely to produce beneficial results.

New York.—Alonso B. Houghton, retiring United States ambassador to Germany, and the new ambassador to Great Britain, who arrived on the Aquitania, emphatically denied to inquiries that munitions were being stored in large quantities in Germany. This decision was taken on instructions from the recent delegates' meeting authorizing the board to proceed with the organization of coarse grain pools immediately. The board took the view that it was vitally important that the pools should control the major portion of the marketable surplus of coarse grains.

Did Extensive Exploration Work

Director of Geological Survey of Canada Died at Ottawa

Ottawa.—Dr. William McMeun, formerly director of geological survey of Canada and director of the Victoria Museum, Ottawa, died in a local hospital here after suffering illness, aged 67. He did extensive exploration work in all parts of Canada and several geological reports compiled by him will remain monuments of his efforts. He was a native of Fredericton, N.B., where he was educated at the University of New Brunswick. Dr. McMeun's first geological work was done in his home province of New Brunswick, and later he spent considerable time in exploration work in Northern Ontario and Manitoba. Extensive explorations were made by him along the Severn and Albany Rivers, while he also spent a long period making geological explorations along the proposed route of the Hudson's Bay Railway.

FRANCE MAKES THREAT TO FORM A JAP ALLIANCE

London.—The French are threatening an alliance with Japan and Russia, in the event of the failure to secure from Britain the strong pact of security which they are demanding. The basis of the proposal is a grant of permission to Japan to use Indo-China ports in the event of war with the United States or Britain.

France's position now is that both the United States and Anglo-French pact proposals are dead. The pact was killed by the opposition of the Dominions and the pact was undermined largely by the publication of the Chamberlain memorandum. This was published widely in the British and Dominion press and so aroused public opinion that the cabinet was forced to take action definitely opposing the plan. Austen Chamberlain had to tell Premier Herriot while passing through Paris recently that it would be impossible for Great Britain to carry out the plan he had suggested.

This leaves only one plan—that proposed by Germany, but the French are opposed to this, both because they fear it would help re-establish Germany, and because they are tied by promises to Poland.

WOULD HAVE NO APPEALS FROM SUPREME COURT

Ottawa.—Legislation to abolish appeals from the judgments of the Supreme Court of Canada, is sought in a resolution of which notice has been given by A. R. McMaster, Liberal, Bromo, who will move in the House of Commons that "a committee be named for the purpose of considering the advisability of declaring by legislation that no appeal shall be brought from any judgment or ruling of the Supreme Court of Canada to any court of appeal or authority by which the United Kingdom appeals or petitions to Her Majesty in Council may be heard."

The object of the resolution, Mr. McMaster explained in an interview, is to "make the supreme court really supreme."

It would never be really completely effective, he said, as long as anybody can appeal to some other court from its judgments. Mr. McMaster cited the example of the Supreme Court of the United States as the example to be followed.

"What would I be if I were not a Scotchman?" repeated the latter. "Well, if I weren't a Scotchman—ah, I would be just dam well ashamed of myself!"
